

Reliable and Cost Effective IT Management for Hotels

Do you know if your data back-ups are being carried out on a regular basis, or if your anti-virus subscriptions up to date?

Does the running of your IT systems take your staff away from their core responsibilities?

Are your technology costs unpredictable and have they exceeded your expectations?

Do you lack a coherent management platform and strategy for your IT needs?

If you answered yes to any of these questions then Entegraty can help.

At Entegraty we have been working closely with the hospitality sector for over 10 years. We specialise in helping independent hotels and small chains to optimise the performance of their IT systems, maximising the return on their technology investments. Notable clients include The Lensbury at Teddington Lock, The Best Western Botleigh Grange and Chilworth Manor among others.

We have worked with a broad range of hotel technologies including Property Management Systems such as Fidelio and Visual One, as well as Point of Sale, Spa, Golf and other bespoke solutions.

The hospitality industry has traditionally been cynical of the benefits of IT or information technology. This is due to the unreliability of legacy systems, an incoherent technology strategy and sustained periods of under-investment. Customarily a break-fix approach to IT has been the norm, rather than the current best practice of pro-active systems optimisation.

Most hotels lack the luxury of a full-time IT Manager or the necessary in-house technology expertise. Entegraty can greatly assist you with services ranging from in-depth technology site audits on existing infrastructure and systems to evaluations of new technology investments. As such we can give your business the agility, ease of management, reliability and performance that you need to succeed.

Entegraty's hospitality solutions have been designed to reduce management complexity and optimise your infrastructure performance at a price point that offers genuine value for money. We enable our clients to do more for less, ensuring their competitive advantage. And with an innovative range of financing solutions, we can help you to offset any capital expenditure, offering a low Total Cost of Ownership and a fast Return on Investment.
